OUR PHILOSOPHY

Founded in 2008, TriVariant LLC is a management consulting company dedicated to helping our clients administer more effective programs. We collaborate with our clients to get the most from their investments while meeting their program objectives. We balance detailed planning and state-of-the-art design with innovative solutions, streamlined implementation, and expert operational support. Our goal is to contribute to your success.

What does TriVariant actually mean? The “tri” represents the three main areas we concentrate on to help our Clients achieve their goals: People, Processes, and Tools. As vital as these three pieces are, it’s the word “variant” that’s the key component of our name. It stands for how we want to help you — by providing “different or new” solutions to meet your specific needs. We are not saying that the tried-and-true business methods won’t work, but we believe there’s a better way. We want to help you address your challenges from a fresh, practical, value-oriented perspective.

We believe that PEOPLE are the key ingredient in improving the way you manage and control your projects. Without them, you have nothing. Since people are your most valuable asset, we’ll work with you to establish an environment where there is a strong capacity for change, and continuous learning is part of the culture.

Creating or re-engineering the way you’ll manage and control your projects through pioneering PROCESSES will help you maximize efficiency and achieve quality standards. Our innovative strategies will help you develop, improve, or build upon existing solutions to eliminate waste, optimize your employees’ capabilities or outsource functions and utilize information technology to boost productivity.

As a consulting company, we help you seek out and evaluate the best possible TOOLS to support your project management needs — independent of vendor influence or bias. Whether developing a custom software solution, implementing an off-the-shelf product, or enhancing the way your current tools work, at TriVariant, we seek the solutions that will yield the highest value for you.

WHAT SETS triVariant APART?

TriVariant is a high-value, competitively priced, hands-on implementer of Program Management solutions. We manage proposals, build schedules, support project start-up, design and implement tools, document processes, and provide training. We specific expertise guiding our customers through tough Earned Value Management System (EVMS) implementations and EVMS Reviews. Our consultants build long-term partnerships with our clients, ensuring their program needs are continually met as they grow.
