

THE BENEFITS OF AN EVM GAP ANALYSIS: TriVariant's Philosophy and Approach to Gap Analysis

Use today's performance data to manage and control future outcomes.™

A Gap Analysis by an independent third party tells you where you need to focus your energies and provides a roadmap to reach compliance.

TriVariant was founded on the fundamental belief that Earned Value Management provides the best framework for program management success whether you are supporting a U.S. Government program, commercial program, or high-risk internal project. Our expert consultants not only craft targeted solutions that help our clients get the most from their programs, we show them how to interpret and act on program performance data to forecast future outcomes with confidence.

Three key elements lie at the heart of an effective Earned Value Management System (EVMS):

- 1 Sound business processes that are put into practice daily in a consistent and repeatable manner,
- 2 An investment in the best possible tools to support the program's needs, and
- 3 An informed staff who reviews the program performance data regularly and knows how to interpret its meaning and take appropriate action.

The TriVariant team understands exactly what it takes to implement and maintain an effective program management environment. Conducting a Gap Analysis to identify your organization's specific needs is the vital first step. Our consultants have conducted many Gap Analyses across various business industries over the past two decades – they can help you define your program management environment goals and then work with you to achieve those goals for program success.
